The World Employment and Social Outlook: Trends 2018 was prepared by the Labour Market Trends and Policy Evaluation Unit of the ILO Research Department, headed a.i. by Veronica Escudero. The report was produced by Stefan Kühn, Santo Milasi and Sheena Yoon. Elva Lopez Mourelo and Christian Viegelahn provided important contributions. Judy Rafferty provided valuable research assistance. The forecast data underlying this report are derived from the ILO Trends Econometric Models, managed by Stefan Kühn and Steven Kapsos. The report would not have been possible without the feedback and baseline labour market information provided by the team led by Steven Kapsos, notably David Bescond, Roger Gomis, Rosina Gammarano, Yves Perardel and Marie-Claire Sodergren of the ILO Department of Statistics. Excellent comments and suggestions were also provided by L. Jeff Johnson, Deputy Director of the Research Department and Sangheon Lee, Director a.i. of the Research Department.

The ILO Research Department wishes to acknowledge the comments and suggestions provided by Deborah Greenfield, Deputy Director-General for Policy and James Howard, Senior Adviser to the Director-General. The team would like to acknowledge the input and suggestions of ILO colleagues including Adam Elsheiki, Akira Isawa, Antonia Asenjo, Catherine Saget, Christian Viegelahn, Claudia Ruiz, Elizabeth Manrique Echeverria, Eric Gravel, Fernanda Dutra, Frank Hagemann, Guillaume Delaute, Helmut Schwarzer, Ira Postolachi, Jeronim Capaldo, Juan Chacaltana, Ken Chamuva Shawa, Maria José Chamorro, Mariangels Fortuny, Pelin Sekerler Richiardi, Richard Horne, Roger Gomis, Sara Elder, Steven Kapsos, Takaaki Kizu and Yves Perardel.
