communicate with the Honorary Secretary of the Australian Veterinary Association before applying for or accepting any professional appointment whatsoever advertised in the lay press or this Journal.

SALE OF BACK NUMBERS OF "THE AUSTRALIAN VETERINARY JOURNAL".

A strictly limited number of current and back numbers of THE AUSTRALIAN VETERINARY JOURNAL is held by the Australian Veterinary Association. These may be purchased from the Business Manager at the following rates:

- Numbers of current year ....... 2/6 per copy
- Numbers of any previous year (where available) ....... 5/- per copy
- Numbers of any issue of which there is less than 10 available (at the discretion of the Business Manager) 10/- per copy

Back numbers of THE AUSTRALIAN VETERINARY JOURNAL, if in good order, may be purchased by the Australian Veterinary Association at 2/6 per copy.

NOTICE TO CONTRIBUTORS.

All business communications must be forwarded to the Business Manager.

All scientific contributions must be forwarded to an appropriate State Editor and not direct to the Editor.

Matter must be typewritten on one side of the paper only, and double-spaced to permit corrections and printer's directions. A margin of at least one and a half inches must be allowed at the left-hand side.

Contributors' names should be followed by the usual contractions for their degrees, diplomas, etc., then their official status and address; those who do not hold official appointments should give sufficient address to enable correspondents to communicate direct with them if desired.

References to literature in the text must be made by placing the year of the publication, in parentheses, after the names of the authors and not by attaching numbers. Thus: "Wilkerson (1934) has shown that . . . .".

References should be arranged at the end of articles in the alphabetical order of the authors' names. Titles of articles will not be printed.

The following example indicates how references should be set out: Wilkerson, J. A. (1934).—J. biol. Chem., 104: 541.

Note that (a) the year of publication is placed in parentheses after the author's name, (b) the name of the journal, contracted in the standard manner, is underlined to indicate italics, (c) the volume number is doubly underlined to indicate heavy type, and (d) is followed by a colon before the commencing page number. The system of abbreviation is that given in the "World List of Periodicals". Contributors not familiar with this should give the name of the journal in full, and the Editor will make the necessary contractions.

If the original paper has not been consulted, the source of the abstract should be given thus:

References to books must give the full title, followed by the publisher's name and the city in which publication was made, e.g.: