Instructions to Contributors

1. Preference will be given to papers which advance the state of the art in research, development, design and innovation management. They should address current or anticipated problems and issues, and implications for managers, R&D teams and organizations. The application of new methods and concepts is especially relevant. Research papers and high quality practitioner perspective papers are published.

2. A paper must be preceded by an abstract, which will clearly reveal the purpose, value and impact of the paper. The abstract should be optimized for search engines. It should state briefly why the work reported was done, how it was carried out, what are the most important conclusions and what are their implications for R&D management.

3. A paper is submitted to referees upon receipt. The editors will do all they can to expedite the reviewing process and ensure that their decision is reached with the minimum of delay. However, submission of a paper to the journal is taken to imply that:
(a) the paper has not been previously published in the open literature;
(b) it is not currently being considered by other journals for publication, nor within three months of submission to this journal will it be submitted to other journals, and only then with prior notice to the journal editors.

4. Submitting Your Article
   - To submit to R&D Management go to http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/rdm. ScholarOne Manuscripts is our online submission and editorial interface.
   - Click on ‘Create Account’ in the top right-hand corner.
   - Once you have registered the new account, go into the author center and click the ‘Click Here to Submit a New Manuscript’ button to get started.
   - If you have any queries with the submission process, please contact us at radmedoffice@wiley.com.
   - Please note that the main document should not reveal the identity of the authors. Please upload author biographies as a separate file.

5. Papers should be prepared using MS Word, preferably on A4 paper, with double spacing and wide margins. They should not normally exceed 5,000 words and specialist terminology and endnotes should be avoided. Mathematical analysis and statistical data should be placed in appendices wherever possible. The priorities of headings and subheadings should be clearly indicated. Paragraphs may be numbered, using decimal points to indicate the hierarchy. If the headings are not to be reproduced in print they should be enclosed in square brackets.

6. Books and articles should be referred to in the text by the author’s name(s) and date of publication, e.g. Baker & Pound (1964). Full references should be included at the end of the paper in alphabetical order using the following convention:

7. The contribution of the author(s) should be a completely original one, it should in no way violate any existing copyright, and it should contain nothing of a libellous or scandalous character. If your paper is accepted, the author identified as the formal corresponding author for the paper will receive an email prompting them to login into Author Services; where via the Wiley Author Licensing Service (WALS) they will be able to complete the license agreement on behalf of all authors on the paper.

For authors signing the copyright transfer agreement
   - If the OnlineOpen option is not selected the corresponding author will be presented with the copyright transfer agreement (CTA) to sign. The terms and conditions of the CTA can be previewed in the samples associated with the Copyright FAQs below:

For authors choosing OnlineOpen
   - If the OnlineOpen option is selected the corresponding author will have a choice of the following Creative Commons License Open Access Agreements (OAA):
     - Creative Commons Attribution License OAA
     - Creative Commons Attribution Non-Commercial License OAA
     - Creative Commons Attribution Non-Commercial-NoDerivs License OAA
   - To preview the terms and conditions of these open access agreements please visit the Copyright FAQs hosted on Wiley Author Services http://authorservices.wiley.com/bauthor/faqs_copyright.asp and visit http://www.wileyopenaccess.com/details/content/12f25db4c87/Copyright--License.html.
   - If you select the OnlineOpen option and your research is funded by The Wellcome Trust and members of the Research Councils UK (RCUK), you will be given the opportunity to publish your article under a CC-BY license supporting you in complying with Wellcome Trust and Research Councils UK requirements. For more information on this policy and the Journal’s compliant self-archiving policy please visit: http://www.wiley.com/go/funderstatement.

8. Free access to the final PDF offprint or your article will be available via author services only. Please therefore sign up for author services if you would like to access your article PDF offprint and enjoy the many other benefits the service offers. Additional, paper offprints may be ordered online. Please visit the following website, fill in the necessary details and ensure that you type information in all of the required fields: http://www.sheridan.com/wiley/eoc.
   - If you have any queries about offprints please email: Erica.Garrett@sheridan.com.

9. Books in relevant fields should be sent for review to:
   - Dr Khaleel Malik
   - R&D Management – Book Review Editor
   - University of Manchester
   - Oxford Road
   - Manchester M13 9PL
   - England
   - khaleel.malik@mbs.ac.uk

10. Proofs. The corresponding author will receive an email alert containing a link to a web site. A working e-mail address must therefore be provided for the corresponding author. The proof can be downloaded as a PDF file from this site. This will enable the file to be opened, read on screen and printed out in order for any corrections to be added. Further instructions will be sent with the proof. Hard copy proofs will be posted if no e-mail address is available. Excessive changes made by the author in the proofs, excluding typesetting errors, will be charged separately.

11. Online production tracking is now available for your article through Wiley Blackwell's Author Services. Author Services enables authors to track their article – once it has been accepted – through the production process to publication online and in print. Authors can check the status of their articles online and choose to receive automated e-mails at key stages of production. The author will receive an e-mail with a unique link that enables them to register and have their article automatically added to the system. Please ensure that a complete e-mail address is provided when submitting the manuscript.
   - Visit http://authorservices.wiley.com/bauthors for more details on online production tracking and for a wealth of resources including FAQs and tips on article preparation, submission and more.
