

Molecular Ecology and Molecular Ecology Resources are looking for new Editorial Board members to join the journals as Associate Editors in the key subject areas below:

- Computer programs, NGS pipelines, bioinformatics
- Microbial ecology – primarily prokaryotes, microbial communities, metagenomics
- Species interactions, food webs, trophic ecology
- Mammal molecular ecology
- Transcriptomics and gene expression studies

Nominations and personal applications are welcome, and whilst scientific qualifications are paramount, we would particularly appreciate nominations and applications from suitably qualified researchers in underrepresented groups, including women, ethnic minority scientists, and scientists with disabilities, among others. Please email nominations/applications by March 20th, 2023 to jburton@wiley.com with the following items:

- Cover letter stating the reasons for your nomination, of if applying for yourself, your interest in the role and familiarity with the journals,
- Abbreviated CV (Education, Publications, Outreach) if you have it.